Mental Health Support for Young People
Tips for a healthy headspace

There are a number of ways to look after your mental health every day.

Some of these include:

• Eat well
• Prioritise sleep
• Be physically active
• Be socially active

For more info head to: headtohealth.gov.au or your local headspace centre for tips on creating a healthy headspace.

Apps: Reach Out recommends a range of useful apps that can support a healthy headspace: au.reachout.com/tools-and-apps
It’s normal to feel overwhelmed at times and most often the feelings will pass fairly quickly.

Some good coping strategies include:

• Talking to someone
• Practicing relaxation or mindfulness
• Being creative
• Being active

However if these feelings persist contact us at headspace Hawthorn or go to eheadspace

When I am feeling distressed and need immediate support:

Sometimes our emotions can be overpowering and leave us feeling really distressed. In these times, it is important to reach out to a trusted support person or service for help.

When I am in distress, some people I can reach out to are:

1. __________________________________________
2. __________________________________________
3. __________________________________________

share your Beyond Now plan with these people
Often our feelings of distress can intensify at night or on weekends, when we are feeling most alone.

Here are some places you can contact if you are feeling distressed after hours:

Beyond Blue 1300 224 636

EASA 9870 7330 or 1800 806 292
When I’m feeling distressed, I will:

1. _____________________________________________________________________
2. _____________________________________________________________________
3. _____________________________________________________________________
4. _____________________________________________________________________

For my supports: What I would like you to do to support me when I am feeling distressed is:

1. _____________________________________________________________________
2. _____________________________________________________________________
3. _____________________________________________________________________
4. _____________________________________________________________________
