Tips for a healthy headspace

There are a number of ways to look after your mental health every day.

Some of these include:

- Eat well
- Prioritise sleep
- Be physically active
- Be socially active

For more info head to:
headtohealth.gov.au or your local headspace centre for tips on creating a healthy headspace.

Apps: Reach Out recommends a range of useful apps that can support a healthy headspace

It's normal to feel overwhelmed at times and most often the feelings will pass fairly quickly.

Some good coping strategies include:

- Talking to someone
- Practicing relaxation or mindfulness
- Being creative
- Being active

However if these feelings persist contact us at headspace Knox, or go to eheadspace

When I am feeling distressed and need immediate support:

Sometimes our emotions can be overpowering and leave us feeling really distressed. In these times, it is important to reach out to a trusted support person or service for help.

When I am in distress, some people I can reach out to are:

- 1 _____
- 2 _____
- 3 _____

*share your Beyond Now plan with these people

Often our feelings of distress can intensify at night or on weekends, when we are feeling most alone.
